Where Love Is Wasted.

To the Editor of The Evening World:

I, for my part, do not think marriage is a failure. If both parties continue to be as lovable after marriage as before there can be no cause for complaint. If men continued to be lovers after they were married and wives were more patient, none could complain. But some never really knew what love meant, and that is the cause of unhappiness. Then, truly, with them marriage is a failure. But where true love reigns master there is no room for such unwelcome guests as misery and unhappiness. I have been a

BRIGHT BITS OF CHILD TALK.

Future.

SUBSCRIPTION TO THE EVENING EDITION (Including Postage), PER MONTH, 80c.; PER YEAR, $8.50.

VOL. 29.....NO. 9,894

ered at the Post-Office at New York as second-class

Circulation Books Always Open.

"WORLD" GROWTH

STRIKINGLY SHOWN.

The Average Number of "WORLDS Printed Daily and also the Average Number of Advertisements Published Daily during the First Six Months of the Years 1884 and 1888 were as follows:

Average Number Advertisements Daily

288,267. 56,749.

ANOTHER REMINDER.

Mr. HEWITT will please notice the fact that a horse driven through Twentieth street towards Sixth avenue last night after the closing of the theatres stepped on a fallen electric light wire and was instantly thrown to the ground, partially paralyzed. Fortunately the animal did not fall on the wire or it would doubtless have been instantly killed.

Mr. HEWITT will observe that from the deadly force of the electric current, if a human being had happened to cross the road and to tread on the fallen wire, another death would have been added to the few the Mayor has listed as resulting from the wires.

Does not this suggest to the Mayor the propriety of performing his duty as an ex officio member of the Subway Commission and of helping to put the wires underground? He may have a very great dislike to Subway Commissioner GIBBENS, who has faithfully striven to carry out the law, and he may consider ex-Gov. Connell "an ass," but he certainly ought to do his duty under the Subway act, and not give aid and comfort to the corporations which defy or evade the law.

RECOVERING OUR NAVAL POWER. Commander B. D. Evans, the chief steel expert of the Navy Department in the construction of the new cruisers, has given Tur World an interesting interview in relation to the great and general improvement in our navy under the administration of Secretary WHITNEY.

It is the opinion of Commander Evans that if the policy inaugurated by Mr. Whirwer is faithfully and efficiently pursued for ten years to come, the United States will have " as fine a navy as could be desired." France, he says, pursued such s when her naval force was valueless, and at the end years had a better fleet than England. If we should go to war to day our navy would be useless as a menace, but in two years from now our fleet will be an effective commerce-destroying fleet under our present system, and in ten years we shall not have to fear any rival power on the seas.

This is good news, considering for how many years our navy has been dangerous only in its assaults on the Treasury and valuable as an attacking force only to contractors and the lobby. Commander Evans is an authority on the subject, and if, as he says, it only requires ten years' time and honest administration to make the Stars and Stripes again a terror to all enemies of the Republic on the seas, the people will not care how much money they devote to the Navy De-

"OH! WHY DID I DO IT?"

"Why did I do it? Oh, why did I do it?" were the first words spoken by the unfortunate woman, Lizzie Holmes, as she lay the other night on the sidewalk of a Brooklyn street, crushed and dying, having thrown herself from a third-story window.

The poor suicide was a married woman only twenty-seven years of age, and she leaves behind her a family of three young children, all under four years old. She had been separated from her husband, and killed herself while, doubtless, temporarily insane through depression of spirits.

No doubt this woman had some heavy grief to bear. But the words she uttered "Why did I do it?" prove that she regretted her desperate act and would have shrunk from it had she coolly reflected on the consequences. However hard may have been her lot, why should she have left her three little ones to battle through life without a mother's love and care? Who else would as patiently and as devotedly tend them in sickness and suffering? What love could recompense them for the loss of a mother? No doubt these were the thoughts which wrung from the dying woman the agonized cry of remorse. And how much misery and crime would be saved if those who are on the point of committing some such rash act would pause and reflect how much they would give, after it was done, to be able to

If the bank robber who committed two bold crimes yesterday, one at 10 in the morning at the Fitth National and the other at 3 in the afternoon at the Commercial National Benk, had been wise, he would probably have been free to-day, with IS MARRIAGE A FAILURE? $2,000 in his pocket. In his forenoon enterprise he got easily away with that amount. Probably the ease with which the crime was committed tempted him to his afternoon venture, when he statched $8,000 from the paying teller's desk, and was captured after a chase. Now he will go to Sing Sing penniless. Avarice is a vice, even in a

The story of the crimes of the confidential clerk of one of the best known law firms in years JAMES E. BEDELL has been carrying on transactions reaching nearly $300,000 in loans on real estate, every one of which have been fraudulent. False mortgages have been given, forgeries by the score have been committed. and the sharpest and most careful investors have been imposed upon. Mr. BEDELL is the prince of swindlers and throws even

FERDINAND WARD into the shade.

A "young bachelor" gives the opinionnot an expert's, of course—that marriage is not a failure, because, he says, a young man who marries must give up club, outside companions, small vices, including tobacco and liquor, and must keep up courtship after that objections were made by naval officers to the selection of the wife of Naval Constructor Wilson as the godmother of the new cruiser Baltimore. He says the launch was delayed because the ship was not ready, and that Mrs. Wilson, and nobody else, will officiate at the christening. The last announcement is quite satisfactory.

BEDELL, the champion swindler, says he lost $120,000 in the last two years at the policy shop of EMERSON & Goss, 180 Broadway. Well, THE EVENING WORLD has done its best to expose and drive out these policy dens, but the courts do not seem to consider them very great evils, after all.

Although ex-Sheriff James O'BRIEN'S OF ganization, which has just opened headquarters at No. 427 Fifth avenue, is called the "Anti-Cleveland Protective Democracy," it is understood to favor a tariff for revenue. Applications to be made to the Finance Committee for a detailed schedule.

Fire Commissioner RICHARD CROKER has gone to Washington after an interview with Mr. WILSON S. BISSELL, President CLEVE. LAND's former pariner, who is just from the national capital. There is music in the air. But is it harmony?

PICKED UP ON PARK ROW.

always was,

Albert Nuttall is expected so return from his vacation very soon. Theodore Reynolds is in Westchester County spending his vacation. It is said that J. MacDonald has more new suits of clothing than any other man in the same line of

Dr. Young fell overboard at the Branch recently, ning ashore. "Mr." Titus has just as good a voice as be ever and, and his careful m poer of exercising it often wins the game for the Washingtons.

"Dear old Uncle Eddy" Smith, as the boys call him, is shouting as loud as ever over Cleveland and Thurman's chances for being elected.

WORLDLINGS.

The people of Vanceburg, Ky., are discussing the ingular fact that the last ninety-five bables born in that town are all girls.

Mr. William Pool, of Limestone Hill, W. Va. has a powder-horn that Gen. Washington gave to his grandiather over a hundred years ago. Mr. Pool prizes this treasure very highly,

The distinction of being the youngest bank president in the West is claimed by A. H. H. flebor, of Mead Centre, Kan., who is now thirty-six, and he for two years directed the affairs of the chief bank in that town. Mr. Hebor was a delegate to the Chicago Convention for the Seventh Congressiona District of Kansas.

John I. Blair, the magnate of Blairstown, N. J., s now in his eighty-seventh year, but he is still remarkably active, and directs his varied interests with his old-time shrewdness. Mr. Biair built the first railroad across the State of Iows, from Cedar Kapids to Council Buffs. He is at present the largest individual stockholder in the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad.

In the home of Major Rowland, Commandant of the S idiers's Home at Quincy, Itl., there is a plane nat was brought over from London about one hundred years ago and taken to Illino s when the state was our sparse; y settled. It is of resewood, beautifully inhaid and decorated, with a key-b-ard ardly longer than that of a chald's plane of to-av. It-strings give forth a harp-like tone when strock. to strings give forth a harp-like to t is the oldest plane in the State.

[from Time.]

was the image of my grandpa. Is that grandpa

THE INTERESTING QUERY DISCUSSED FROM VARIOUS STANDPOINTS.

The Case Facetiously Treated-" When Woman Cannot Properly Support a Man He Should Not Marry "-The Methersin-Law Defended-Speaking from Fortyone Years' Experience.

the Editor of The Evening World ;

Whether or not marriage is a failure seems the city is absolutely marvellous. For to us to hinge entirely upon the standpoint from which it is viewed. If a woman is rich, marry by all means. Thousands of poor men, ashamed to beg and loath to work, have bowed their necks to the yoke of matrimony, and found themselves comforted by country seats, shooting boxes, valets, yachts, fast horses, operas, &c., to say nothing of cigars and matches ad libitum.

and matches ad libitum.

But if a woman is poor, marry—never.

With her utmost endeavor, with the exertion of all her powers, whether physical or mental, she cannot properly support a husband.
In one way or another his comfort must be abridged. His wardrobe cannot be suitably provided. Instead of the finest of silk. 10 to 1 he must content himself with woollen underwear and for hosiery, lisle thread or, nossibly in extreme cases, vulgar cotton. possibly, in extreme cases, vulgar cotton. When his friend goes yachting he must fall back upon his Mexican grass hammock and the latest novel, which is all that his wife's liquor, and must keep up courtship after marriage. If "Young Bachelor," who says he has $1,200 a year income, will send us his real name and address, we will guarantee that he need not be a young bachelor a month longer.

Mayor Hewirr was in fine condition and excellent temper yesterday when he reviewed the Italian parade to celebrate the overthrow of the temporal power of the Pope. The occasion was the eighteenth anniversary of the triumphal entry of the Italian troops into Rome. Mr. Hewirr congratulated the Italians on their display, but no flag was floated from the City Hall.

Secretary Whither contradicts the story that objections were made by payal officers. parsimony will provide.

For the fast trotters of his more fortunate wife has re used her better half the comfort of a vaiet,

In any event a man should count the cost and weigh the matter seriously before marrying a poor woman. If he is not perfectly sure of his sentiments, positive that he can bring his wants down to the limit of her capacity to supply them, let him beware and wait for a better chance. It is unjust to himself, and under all other conditions marriage must be a failure.

Norwood, N. J.

A Good Word for the Mother-in-Law.

with Editor of The Evenino World:
Will you kindly allow me space in your paper to say a few words in defense of the nuch-abused "Mother-in-law?" A mother has er daughter's interest too much at heart to ver counsel or cause her to quar: elwith a good usband. Always solicitous for her daugh ter's wolfare, she is glad and happy when that daughter marries and lives in peace and unity with the man of her choice. Often and often the has been the means of making peace between two young married people who do not quite understand each other. But when her child marries a man who, in-stead of protecting the woman he has vowed to love and cherish forever, makes her life a nightmare of m sery by his ill-treament, is not every instinct of the mother's heart aroused in the daughter's defense?

Even the brute beasts protect their young mother stand by and see her daughter ill-treated?

When her husband's hand is raised against

When her husband's hand is raised against her, where shall the poor, terrified, desolate and stricken young wife fly but to the protecting arms of mother? To whom but "mother" can she confide the story of her grief and trouble and be sure of sympathy? Indeed, a woman's pride often prevents her from having any other confidente.

There are too many cases of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde. Too many men, who in the eyes of the world are "good fellows," but who at home are the incarnations of evil. Too many bad husbands have made the convenient plea of "mother-in-law" a loophole of escape from justice. Let the "mother-in-law" be heard from. She has too long been the scapegoat of the "son-in-law." She has not done as much as she is credited with doing in making a marriage a failure

M. Harrington Noss,

508 West Fifty-sev nth st.

Has Been Married Forty-One Years.

failure of everything they undertake; who rush into matrimeny at an immature age without judgment, without consideration, without discretion, but simply, as they phrase it, be ause they are in love.

I do not know how to liustrate my mean ing in a better way than by relating the tory of my own marriage, forty-one years ago. I am now sevent:-four years old. I waited patiently and worked hard and saved my money until thirty-two years of age, and then made up my mind, it if I lell in love, to proceed cauthously. This did not take long. I made diligent inquiry without the lady's knowledge, and was satisfied with what I learned. I had $2,000 a year and $1,000 in bonk. I am now in my forty-first year of marriage; have s x children, all provided for but one, who is sought in marriage, and my wife and I are better friends to-day that ever. Marriage is a success, except among

Paul Pry Puts a Case. to the Editor of The Evening World

'Is Marriage a Failure ?" It would be if a man was unfortunate enough to marry a girl as per sample: A young woman, age twenty; can't cook, sew, sing, dauce or play the piano (she has one); never reads, save novels ; has no energy or life, is impudent to her betters. Her only conversation is what somebo iy else was or is wearing; comes down in the morning slipshod, har unkempt un-less somebody is known to be coming to the house; considers herself too "tony" to go out to work as a "help," but lives upon her widowed mother; has no talent for anything unless it be dawdling her life away. Yes.
marriage with this creature would be a failure. This picture is from actual life.

Pact. Psy.

179 Eleventh street, Brooklyn.

Opinion of " A Young Backelor Without

V cen." To the Etitor of The Evening World: Perhaps a bachelor is not an authority on marriage, but he can find opportunity for observation. To me it seems that if a man loves a giri well enough to wed her he can forego his club and outside companions and, if need be, all petty vices (as the use of to-bacco and liquor) to make his wife more happy. Courting must not be stopped with the weiding. Conciliation on both sides must be practised. Wives must be neat and attractive, still exercising the little arts of pleasing so patent in courtsb.p. As a young man without vices of any kind and a lover of home. Law sures enough that courties is ome. I am sure enough that marriage is not failure to try it myself should the girl be cand who would live on the small income of 1,200 a year. Young Backglon.

" Heartbroken" Wants Advice.

to the Editor of The Eventus World; I have read THE EVENING WORLD for the last year, and always found both un and interest in it. I have read the " Is Marriage a Failure ?" letters every night since they first Commissioners Doesn't Stop Their Little Scheme-Such Operations Not Contenanced by the Publishers of the Book the Agents Are Selling.

cently to the Fire Department that certain unscrupulous parties have been canvassing for a book entitled "Our Firemen," and representing that the proceeds were to be applied to the Relief Fund of the Fire Department.

the Commissioners passed the following resolution a short time ago, which was published happy wife a great many years, and my husband fluis no greater pleasure than to spend his evening with wife and children. Clubs and the boys have no interest for him, as he thinks there is no place like home.

New York.

F. M. A. D.

Notwithstanding the publicity given to the Sayings of the Sages and Humorists of the When my little friend-I'll call him Alber for short-was some five years old, he lived at Bond Hill, one of the suburbs of Cincinnati. He was quite interested in the flower nati. He was quite interested in the flower garden and numbered Johnny Jump-Ups among his favorites. It was in early spring when he stood with his note against the window-pane looking thoughtfully into the garden. Suddenly he turned around and addressed his aunty as follows:

'Aunty, it's pretty near time for the flowers to come out, isn't it?"

'Yes," replied his aunty. "It won't be long now. Why?"

"Well, I was just wondering if any of my long now. Why?"
"Well, I was just wondering if any of my little Johnny Hic-coughs would grow this J. F. Binory. Norwood, O., Sept. 17.

The Baby Was Sunburnt. A little girl on her way to see a baby cousin. new-comer, had asked her mother: "Where did this baby come from?" and been answered: "Dr. — must have brought it from the country." The baby, which was of the orthodox glowing complexion, was duly presented. The little girl took one look, turned to her mother and exclaimed: "Mercy, ain't be sunburnt!"

Thought He Was a Fugitive Also. Tommy was a little rogue, whom his mother had hard work to manage. Tommy, to escape a well-deserved whipping, ran from his mother and crept under the sofa. Presently the father came home, and hearing where the boy had taken refuge, crept under to bring him out. As be approach don his hands and knees Tommy asked: "Is she after you,

No Good Without the Button-Hole. Mr. P,'s little daughter came running to her aunt one day, saying: "Aunt Katie, little Matue has swallowed a button!" Seeing her terror, her aunt calmly replied: "Well, what good will that do her?" Said the child very seriously: "Not any good, as I can see, un-less she swallows a button-hole!"

Inquiring for the Family. Last summer a friend took a grandchild to Pennsylvania and passed through Bethlehem. The child, hearing the brakeman in announcing the station cry out "Bethlehem," turned to her graudms and said: "Do you think any of Jesus's folks live here now?"

A Fawl Proceeding. "Mamma, is the old hen going to be sent away for the summer?" "No, Charlie: why do you ask?" "'Cause I heard papa tell the new governess that he would take her out riding when he sent the old hen away for the summer.

Minnie (her kitten being dead)-Has Pussy one to heaven, papa? Papa-No, darling. "Why not?" "They don't want cats in heaven." Minnie-Would they scratch the angels? Will Answer the Description

No Cats in Heaven

A boy at school, on being asked to describe a kitten, said, "A kitten is remarkable for rushing like mad at no hing whatever, and stopping before it gets there."

The Drug Clerks' Fight.

the Editor of The Evening World I saw an article in your valuable paper headed "Drug Clerks Fight Long Hours," in regard to which I would like to say my word. The drug clerks tried to get up a union two

The drug clerks tried to get up a union two years ago in order to get shorter hours, but I am sorre to say they toled.

I for one am supposed to open the store at 7 a. m. (in summer at 6.30 a. m.) and keep open until 11 p. m. (Saturdays until midnight), besides attending to all night-calls, which somet mes amount to three and four in one wight, for which there is no compensation either in time or in money. This is either in time or in money. This i sation either in time or in money. This is about the regular run in most stores of the eity.

If your paper would take this matter up great deal would be done towards helping the unfortunate and overworked drug clerks of the city of New York. Yours truly. An Unrostunate Daug Clerk. New York, Sept. 21.

Thirteenth Street Evening High School. The New York Evening High School, formerly secting in Thirteenth street, near Sixth avenue West Thirtieth street, near Sixt: avenue.
The school is new open every evening for the examination and registration of students.

He Was Holding.

Officer (to midnight robber)-Hold! or I fire! M. Robber-I am holdin' with all me might What more do you want ? 111 Johnson avenue, Brookiya.

Greece wants to fight Turkey.

The Ameer of Afghanistan is reported dead. The U. S. man-or-war Nipsic is ordered to A riot occurs among the soldiers at Portobello Barracks, Dublin, Speaker Fremont Cole, of the Assembly, marries Miss Roserts, of Havana, N. Y.

A nephew of Mayor Hewitt is married to a daughter of Bishop Scarporough, at Trenton, N. J. A game of haseball is played at Washinston between the actors and reporters, for the benefit of the yellow-fever sufferers.

Miss Tebbetts, a society belle, of St. Louis, elop-s with her father's coachman, twice her age, but they are captured before they have a chance to marry. French marices trying to raise their national flag on an island of the Marquesas group are savagely attacked, and 800 Frencaman and 8,000 natives are killed.

appeared. But now you ought to call it,
"Is Love a Failure?" The way I am fixed is this: I have loved a young lady of my own age since last summer. She seemed to like me too. This summer she went away to the country, and while there she met another young man. She now writes and receives letters from him, while I am left in the cold.
I love her still. Could you please give me some advice what to do through the columns of The Evenino World. Heartbroken.

Their Denunciation by the Beard of Fire Commissioners Decan't Step Their Little Scheme—Such Operations Not Contethe course, all of whom are highly recommended by people competent to speak of Several complaints have been made re These complaints becoming so numerous

In the daily papers:

The Fire Commissioners having been informed that persons have been soliciting subscriptions to the Fire Department Relief Fund, in connection with canva-sing for a history of the department, the Commissioner-desire to warn the public that no one has been suthorized to use the name of the department or its Helief Fund for any such purpose.

matter, the canvassers continued their work with great success, and a week ago two of them called upon Mr. S. Dessau, a John street jeweller, to whom they related the plausible story that they were two firemen, canvassing for the book in the interests of the Relief Fund, and that it was purely volantary work on their part, as they received no pay for their trouble, but the Relief Fund was very low and they were appointed to solicit subscriptions.

Being impressed with their story, Mr. Dessau subscribed, and two days after the book was delivered at his office.

In thinking over the matter Mr. Dessau concluded to write to the Fire Department and ascertain if everything was as the canvassers had stated, and received an answer informing him that the department had any vassers had stated, and received an answer intorming him that the department had authorized no such proceeding, and that the statements of the agents were untrue.

Secretary Jussen, of the Fire Department, informed an Evening World reporter that the publisher of the book had in 1886 offered to donate $5,000 to the Relief Fund if they would give him access to the records and enable him to write a history of the department.

ment.
The request was granted, and this book is the result. Since then they had heard nothing from the publisher, except that he was seling the book on false representations, and they had vainly tried to stop it.

vainly tried to stop it.

In the role of a prospective purchaser the reporter called upon the publisher, Mr. A. E. Costello, at his office, 2 West Fourteents street, and in reply to his inquiries Mr. Costello stated that he had heard that some of his tello stated that he had heard that some of his agents had made representations to purchasers that were untrue, but that he was not responsible for their words.

"Any one who has had any dealings with agents." said he, "knows that they are a hard set to manage. With few exceptions they will make any statement that is liable to cause a sale.

"This book I wish to sell on its merits alone, and if I find any man making representations which are not true. I will discharge him at once. The only statement which they are allowed to make is what is sho wn in this letter from the Fire Department, certifying that the Commissioners have consented to the publishing of the work."

Mr. Costello called the reporter's attention

Mr. Costello called the reporter's attention to a notice in the book, warning the pur-chaer that no agent was authorized to re-ceive donations for the Relief Fund. 'I was compelled to do this," said he. " as I discovered that one of my agents was using the book as a blind for getting money."

POLITICAL POINTS.

"The Protective Democracy" is the name of the organization which meets at 427 Fifth avenue. It is under the management of ex-Sheriff James O'Brien, ex-Congressman Hardy, Orlando L. Stewart, ex-Alderman Robert Powers and a few other old-time kickers.

The Protective Democracy" believe in protecting themselves first, and it is understood that their expenses are to be paid by the Republican Col. Quay, the chief engineer of the Republican National machine, has returned from his financial foraging expedition among the iron and coal barons of Pennsylvania. Col. Quay did not succeed in collecting much of a boodle. He started out to secure $200,000, and it is not believed that he secured more than $50,000. A member of the Democratic State Committee said yesterday: " Warner Miller has paid an as-mittee. I was told so by a member of that com-The County Democracy Hill ratification meeting last evening at Cooper Institute was a rouser despite the rain. The speech of Patrick A. Collins was attentively listened to and was repeatedly interrupted by applause.

sessment of $50,000 to the Republican State Com-

There are now 2,500 enrolled members of the Tammany Hall Committees and Association of the Fourteenth Assembly District. It is one of the best Wigwam district organizations in the city. Col. William L. Brown, of the Manhattan Club, has $20,000 ne wants to wager on Cleveland. He says the Republicans want odds of 10 to 7. Ex-Assemblyman John Douglas, of Kings, knows a man who has $10,000 that he will wager against $7,000 on Hill. Here is a chance for the rich friends of Warner Miller.

Have They Been Stealing Wheat? MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Sept. 20. - W. G. Hanley, well-known commi-sion dealer and member o the firm of Peterson & Hanley, was arrested about midnight last night on a warrant charging him with stealing 15,000 bushels of wheat from the Minneapolis Union Elevator in Southeast Minneapolis. Habler has been D. C. Moaks & Co.'s cashier and bookkeeper. Others suspected of complicity are well-known wheat men. Hanley re-

A Sure Nigu. [From the Boston Transcript.] "Oh, but he is then. I saw him going to church ast Sunday."

Wayfarers at the Hotels. W. B. Jordan, of Boston; J. C. Edwards, of Peorla, Ill., and G. M. Moulton, of Unicago, are at the Eartholdi. At the Brunswick are P. Griffith, of London: F. Moore, of O tawa. Canada; H. A. Simonson, of Vashington, and Dwight Braman, of Boston. Thomas Eldridge, of Saratoga; M. E. Dayton, of Chicato; J. L. L. wis, of Pittsburg, and R. J. Dewey, of Brockville, Canada, are at the Gilsey House.

Among the latest arrivals at the Fifth Avenue are W. F. Foster, of London; T. J. Stores, of Liv rpool; Sam Tate, jr., of Memphis, and L. P. French, of Boston. French, of Boston.

Prominent at the Hoffman House are G. H. Tich-enor, of Washington; J. M. Woodward, of St. Louis; S. H. Russell, of New Bedford, and H. P. Burney, of Washington.

Barney, of Washington.

At ine St. James are Hawthorne Hill, of Louisville, Ky.; W. G. Price, of Pittsburg; G. M. Dann, of Denver; J. H. O'liara, of Boston, and D. K.
Collier, of Lexington, Ky.

Registered at the Sturievant House are J. J.
Alley, or Al banua; John Kilkenney, of New Oriesus; H. O. Price, of Cleveland; F. E. Nickerson, of Boston, and Townsend Pergy, of London.

(conspicuous at the Asion Plause are T. H. Carifolium Conspicuous at the Astor House are T. H. Carlin, f Alleghery, Pa.; J. H. Branan and J. B. Calderlin, of Washington; B. P. Hunbard, of Boston; A. Carter, of Portland, Me., and Prof. J. W. Isilett, of the University of Virginia.

Among the Gran: Hotel guests are Dr. C. M. Williams, of Washington, D. C.; Lot Flannery, of Washington; Thomas H. Russell, of Massilion, Onlo; D. C. Bacon, of Georgia, and Gen. Roger A. Pryor, of this city.

FOR THE PEOPLE'S PREE COURSE. Long List of Lecturers Brought Before

General interest in the free lectures to be delivered in the public schools under the provisions of THE EVENING WORLD bill, to. gether with the tireless efforts of the Board of Education Committee, comprising Commissioners Guggenbeimer, O'Brien and Dodge, have brought forward a large number of lecturers available for the purposes of

ing instructors and experts:
Prof. Bickmore, 12 East Forty-first street.
Prof. Herman Leroy Fairchild, 54 West Fifty-fifth street. Prof. William Stratford, 17 Lexington ave their merits. The list includes the follow-

Dr. Charles H. May, Madison avenue and

Dr. Charles H. May, Madison avenue and Fifty-ninth, street, lecturer in hygiene and medical topics.
Dr. James A. Carmichael.
Alice D. Le Plongeon, lectures illustrated with photographic views made on the spot in lucatan.
J. W. Harmon, 1822 Lexington avenue, lecture illustrated with the Edison speaking phonograph, together with a thorough but simple explanation of all the principles involved and the laws of sound which govern its use, illustrated forcibly and pleasantly.
Dr. Egbert L. Viele, lecturer in physiology and hygiene.
G. A. Ciement, 38 Park row, constitutional law and those fundamental legal principles law and those fundamental legal principles having special application to the rights and duties of workingmen and workingwomen in their various social and domestic relations. Alderman Alfred R. Conkling, lecturer on

Mexico, using twenty-six stereopticons and Mexico, using twenty-six stereopticons and map, without compensation.

Dr. Robert E. Weiel, 711 Madison avenue, lecturer in history, political and constitutional literature and political economy.

Mr. E. F. Farrington, 93 South Portland avenue, Brooklyn, lectures, recitations and stereopticon exhibitions.

Dr. H. H. Rusby, Columbia College, lecturer in physiology and hyg ene.

Prof. Spencer L. Hiller, 256 West Fifty-fourth street, lecturer on natural science.

Miss Elizabeth Stow Brown, M. D., 4
Rutherford place, Stuyvesant square, lecturer

Butherford place, Stuyvesant square, lecturer on physiology and hygiene.
Dr. T. O'Connor Sloan, 361 Broadway, lecturer on physics and chemistry.
Mr. L. J. B. Lincoln. Deerfield, Mass., ecturer on American history.
Dr. Nathan S. Roberts, 149 East Sixtyecond street, lecturer on anatomy, hygiene,

Mr. Stephen Helm, 417 Putnam avenue, Brooklyn, lecturer on microscopial life.
Mr. Charles S. Allen, 107 East Eighty-fifth street, lecturer on chemistry
Dr. Henry G. Hanchett, 38 West Ninth street, lecturer on medical topics.

FUN FOR AFTER DINNER.

The Last Man Who Ought to Complain.

Bald-headed Man-Here, waiter, this is an infer nal utrage. Here is a hair swimming around in the soup.

Walter—Well, don't make such a fuss about triffe. Hair is what you need most, ain't it?

Sensonable Agricultural Advice. [From the Chicage News.]
The coming of the harvest moon renders timely the following advice on agricultural matters:

Cut your hay fever. Take in your machinery plants at night for fear

To revent damage from sudden frosts: Keep out of the wheat pit.
To revent damage from sudden frosts: Keep out of the wheat pit.
To recover from the effects of short crops: Keep away from the barbet.
How to find out whether this is to be an open winter: Wait and see. Disrespect to His Ancestors.

Grandpa (who has retired to the plazza, fallen saleen and w ked no suddenly)-Blest if I thought them fles would foll w me out here to the dark!

But his p t grandeniid, who had applied some phosphoreasent paint to his granipa's head, knew the reason well.

Equal to the Occasion

[From the Detroit Free Press.] " Porter!" called a desperate man on a sleeping car, "I can't sleep a wink for the racket in that upper berth across the aisle. See who it is and ask them for heaven's sake to stop anoring and let me sleep."
The porter investigated and returned with the information t at it was a lady, and she did not The porter investigated and returned who the information that it was a lady, and she did not speak English.

"Ah, sold the angry traveller, "a s'nora evidentity," and he took his pillow and a quilt and sought repose in the smoking-oar.

He Was Too Busy. 'Prof. McGoozie," remarked the young lady. I believe you are not connected with our Brown ing movement." 'I am not, Miss Kajones," replied the Professor, cro-sing one leg lease-jointedly over the other, "and my time is too folly taken up to permit me to connect invasif with any movement whatever." The young lady looked intrively at the clock.

"That seems a great pity, Professor," she said.

An Obliging Editor. [From the Chicage Tribune.]
Facetions Visitor in Newsp per Office (to editor) May I use your brains a moment?

Editor-My brains? Visitor (smitingly picking up scissors)—Yes, sir.
Only a moment. I want to—Editor (with great cortiality)—Certainly you may. Use them as long as you please. Always glad to furnish brains to a man that hasn't any.

Notes of the Campaign. Notes of the Campaign.

Mr. Fred W. Hinrichs will deliver an address before the members of the Cev-land and Thurman Whole-ale Dry-Goods Club at 5.30 this afternoon at their rooms. 548 Browlway, near Leonard street.

The Cleveland and Thurman Workingmon's Campaign Club of the Thire-onth Assembly District organized at 220 West Eighteenth Street last syening and enrolled minety-seven members. The following officers were elected: John C. Tunningham, President: James J. Cavanagh, Vectory; Martin J. Durkin, Recording Secretary; Joseph J. Phalan, Tressurer; John B. Breanan, Bergeant-at-Arms.

MEN'S HATS.

This new department is now ready for Fall Trade with a most perfect Stock of Men's Headwear. Every new and desirable shape in Silk Hats, Soft Hats and Derbys, guaranteed to be of the best makes, and sold at especially low prices to more thoroughly introduce the department.

BLOOMINGDALE BROS.,

3d Ave. and 59th St.

A REPRESENTATIVE JERSEYMAN. Allan McDermott, the One-Time Reporter,

Now a Power in the State. No truer representative of the "selfmade" men of the period than Allan Langdon McDermott, of Jersey City, can be found in all Jersey.

Mr. McDermott was born in South Boston in 1854, and is a son of Hugh Farrar McDermott, the poet. All but two of his thirtyfour years of life have been spent in Jersey City.

When able to do for himself, young Allan became a reporter, and in his leisure When able to do for himself, young Allan became a reporter, and in his leisure moments studied law. Gov. Abbett took him into his office and taught him the principles which have pushed him forward. In 1877 Mr McDermott became an attorney, and two years later was made Corporation Attorney of Jersey City.

Four years later, Gov. Ludlow appointed him a District tourt Judge. At the same time Mayor Tauss g. of Jersey City, appointed him a member of the City Board of Finance, and as President of that body Mr. McDermott engineered the city through a McDermott engineered the city through a financial crisis and saved its credit. It has been truly said of him that he knows more about the finances and other affairs of the city than the finances and other affairs of the city than any othe man in it.

Mr. McDermott is now a member of the State Board of Assessors and Clerk of the Court of Chancery. Located at Irenton, he leads the Democracy of the State, and will be a creditor of President Cleveland after the election. He was temporary Chairman of the convention which nominated Gov. Abbets and permanent Chairman of that which nominated Gov. Green.

and permanent Chairman of that which nom-na ed Gov. Green.

Allan McDermott is one of the most con-genial men one would ask to meet. His iriends are everywhere and his enemies those who only favor him by their enmity. He is very young and may carve a greater name before he is very oid.

A PROSPEROUS BROTHERHOOD.

In Seven Years the Carpenters and Joiners Have Formed 475 Unions.

Secretary P. J. McGuire, of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, writes from the headquarters of that body to say that it is in a very prosperous condition, and since the consolidation of the United Order and the Brotherhood it has increased its membership largely. He has increased its membership largely. He says:

the Brotherhood was founded in convention at Chicago, Aug. 12, 1881. At first it had only 12 local unions and 2,042 members. Now, in seven years, it has grown to number over 475 local unions in over 445 cities, and 53,000 enrolled members. It is organized to protect the carpenter trade from the evils of low prices and botch-work; its aim is of encourage a higher standard of skill and better wages, to re-establish an apprentice system, and to atlead assist the members by mutual protection and benevolent means. It pays a wife funeral benefit from $25 to $50; members funeral benefit, $100 to $500. In these general benefits $18,750 save been expended the past year, and $23,675 the past five years, while $200,000 more were spent for sick sensite by the local unions. The protherhood is made a protective trade union as well as a benevolent society. It has relied the wages and sight of the past side of the carpenters in these cities. It reduces the hours of labor to 8 hours a day in 20 cities, and 9 hours a day in 107 citis, not to 80 at the pockets of the carpenters in these cities. It reduces the hours of labor to 8 hours a day in 20 cities, and 9 hours a day in 20 cities, and 9 hours a day in 107 citis, not to 80 at the order of sauced employment. To six a result of incrough organization. And yet, very few atrices have occurred, and very fulle money has been spent on strikes by this society. It is not a secret, oats-bound organization. All competent carpenters are eligible to join.

Secretary McGuire's address is Post-Office box 844 Philadelph a.

Secretary McGuire's address is Post-Office box 884 Philadelph a. Early (losing Pushes Abend. An east-side branch of the Early-Closing Association has been formed by the employees in dry and fancy goods stores in that sec ion of the city, its principal purpose being the closing of all the stores principal purpose being the closing of all the stores at 7 P. M. from Jaz. 1, 1889.

The public on the east side, as well as the proprietors of the larger stores, are said to be very much in favor of this movement, and there is every prospect that the hard-working employees will nave their working day of fourteen to eighteen hours materially shortened.

The meeting of the association take place every sunday at 2 P. M., at Biennick Hall, 197 East Fourth street, and every workingman is cordially invited to attend.

Good at Dressing Hogs. In the staid town of L—, in the Nutmer State, lived two tarmers, A, and B,, both of whom were noted local hog butchers, B, however, was also noted for being mean and one day B. passed along when A. had just finished butchering a hog, and the following dialogue took place: Farmer B. Say, naybur, how long was yer dressin' that hog? yer dressin' that hog?

Farmer A.—'Bout two hours, I guesa.
Farmer B.—Tew hours? Great Scott! I kin dress a hog in hait that time.
Farmer A.—Think you had oughter; you dress one every morning.

Not Needed There. [From the Phitadelphia Record.]
Dressmaker—There doesn't seem to be stuff en ugn here to make a train three yards long.

Society Belle-Dear me ! How much more is .. About half a yard."
.. Well, take it off the neck."

A Commendable Innovation. [From the Chicago News.]
Two special trains of palace cattle cars, with dining cars attached, are coming through from Nevada to Chicago on p.s enger time. All the occupants of the cars get itselfrequently except the porter. This innovation will doubless most with great favor among the traveling public.

Do You

Have that extreme tired feeling, languor, without appe-tite or swength, impaired digestion, and a general feel-ing or meer; it is impossible to describe? Hood's bar-saparilla is a wonderful medicine for creating an appetite, promoting digestion, and tening up the wi tem, giving strength and activity in place of weak and debility. Be sure to get Hood's Sarsaparilla.